Well, you know I'm sure I had a lot of times this year in class was one of the really sorry that I couldn't give you a chance. Try a little harder what I would have done without you and you listening to all my problems. I have known you one year but I hope about 1 month ago I just really gotten to know you better. I can be great like I have a great year - you never know if I'm a funny kid - your freinds nice freind - HA HA - your pretty summer, but I know you crack me up - even if this I'll always be busy with all your boy freinds phone calls. You have the greatest summer ever!

Be good -
 Love, Pat & Zhen

guel - goer - what a queer - why do I write in this thing - it's really dumb you know! This year we struggled through - if I remember right - this was supposed to be our year off for getting along. 8th grade - OK

 9th grade - OK
 10th grade - hate
 11th grade - OK

out of sight -

Well I'm sure come over to the homestead any time you know - you're always welcome. Have a nice summer -

Kris

Julie.
 It's been a fun year, and you only have one year.
 I hope you have lots of fun or see you have lots of fun
 a next year. This summer I'll see you. Stay out there

THIS YEAR . . .

beginning of a new decade . . . a chance to start again . . . to reach out . . . to discover and experiment . . . to learn . . . to try new ideas . . . to find out that someone else might be right . . . to laugh and cry . . . and maybe grow up . . . to understand each other . . . to search for your place in the world . . . to mature . . . to get to know yourself . . . to accept . . . to revolt . . . to face up to reality . . . to exchange ideas . . . to blend in with the group, yet keep your own identity . . . a chance to make it something . . . to make it good . . . to make it ours and ours alone . . .

Julie -
 I'll make it so I can take up and you'll be O.K.
 "peace"

Julie -
 you little cutie when are we going to go out together and kiss? I hope it is soon! Don't you? It is really nice knowing someone get together during the summer!
 Good Luck always Don

Julie -
 Well
 Another yr gone. I hope. You
 Had a great year I really did. TAKE CARE this summer.
 And don't Get into too much trouble

Where can I start. Suppose with all of the great time last year. They were fun. You made it through the whole year (bush.).

new sights and sounds . . . pounding drills . . .
 narrow, dusty halls . . . locked lavs . . .
 dissatisfactions . . . teacher-school board disagreement . . . kids getting involved . . .
 mob psychology . . . walk-outs—vacation?
 . . . bitter feelings . . . “We can work it out”
 . . . frustrating first weeks . . . no sports, no Homecoming, nothing . . . moratorium . . .
 black arm bands . . . the dawning of the mini-course . . . Student Council—fact or fancy?
 . . . new people with new ideas . . . “Why didn’t I ever notice her before?” . . . going beyond the boundaries of Alexander Ramsey High School . . .

THIS YEAR . . .

remember . . . the first day of school . . .
the last, the very last day of school . . .
computerized schedules . . . the broomball bashers . . . frostbite . . . sleeping through first hour . . . being the only one left in school
. . . tension and the relief of getting it all done . . . burning the proverbial midnight oil . . . report card days . . . rushing to beat the inevitable bell . . . racing down empty halls . . . cramming the last minute for exams . . . hard, wooden bleachers . . .
pink passes, yellow passes, blue passes . . .
meeting at Mac's after the game . . . a jammed locker . . . excitement . . .
screaming your lungs out for our team . . .
school lunches . . . visits to the office . . .
things weren't really so different except it was our year . . . THIS YEAR . . .

Julie,
 It's been really fun knowing you all of these years, and it was fun in English competing with you.

Gee Whiz
 Julie I sure has been a swell year, I've really enjoyed meeting you because you're really peachy keen and gosh golly you're really a cute kid. It sure is swell that I don't have to go here any more after Thursday. Good luck, have fun, stay out of trouble and breathe easy,
 next year!

The Class of 1971

JUNIOR EXECUTIVE BOARD—ROW 1: B. Boeckerman, E. Schatz, B. Graiziger, C. Brandt. ROW 2: D. Nelson, S. Curley, B. Hendry, H. Linder. ROW 3: T. Carlin, L. Skon, C. Timmons. ROW 4: B. Ellevold, D. Hendrickson, P. Dudleston, M. Lemke. ROW 5: G. Malm, M. Garcia, P. Fisher, T. McKenzie. BELOW: Class time doesn't always mean study time.

The Class of 1971 began the year as if they were experienced at being juniors. Following in the footsteps of previous classes, classmen participated in varsity sports, purchased class rings and took MSAT tests. Class officers were Carl Brandt, President; Bob Graiziger, Vice-President; Liz Schatz, Secretary; and Bev Boeckermann, Treasurer. The officers led the class through an exciting year.

English classes competed against each other selling tickets to the Junior Class play. Miss Kallsen's second hour excelled all others. Dracula provided strange, thrilling entertainment and was a great success. American Studies and history classes provided students with a variety of projects. They ranged from character sketches to family histories. Pam Miller added to the Christmas festivities as she played Amahl in 'Amahl and the Night Visitors.' Several other juniors had parts in the production.

Phil Hey takes advantage of the new dress code.

Students and Teachers Voice Their Opinions

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Dr. M. Nicholson, Mrs. J. Demos, Mr. C. Blomstrand, Mr. J. Pound, Mr. G. Seaberg, Mr. H. Wallin.

Student curiosity played a great part at Ramsey this year. The teacher-board disputes were many and included salaries. These disputes aroused much student interest. An agreement was reached September 20, 1969. During this time of turmoil, classes were often disrupted.

If students hadn't known that the school board existed in previous years, they learned of it this year.

English Explores a Field of Creativity

By the time a Ramsey student graduates, he will have struggled through three years of English. Sophomores entered their classes with feelings of both anticipation and anxiety, to spend most of the year studying grammar. However, novels such as A SEPARATE PEACE and CATCHER IN THE RYE added an interesting touch, along with seeing JULIUS CAESAR at the Guthrie.

Juniors, who were now prepared with one year of experience, found the major emphasis to be on literature. They explored THE SCARLET LETTER, HUCKLEBERRY FINN, and BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

Seniors should have found their last year of English easy, but this was not true for all students. They tried to read THE ILLIAD, OEDIPUS REX, MACBETH, and act out SHAKUNTALA.

Proper Study of Mankind"

This year the Social Studies department continued its efforts to help students understand that social studies is "the proper study of mankind"; not just facts and dates. Towards this end they tried new approaches such as the Minnesota Project of Social Studies. The M.P.S.S., used in American History classes, centers around two objectives: helping the student to discover things for himself and introducing him to the use of concepts in generalization. Team teaching, a new method last year, was continued because of its apparent success.

Literature and Methods, also begun last year, was used as an alternative to senior Social classes for Students who wanted a broader introduction to the social sciences. Small groups of students, on independent study, chose a problem or a book in each field of the social sciences. Then they developed a theory, applied it and tested it. Success and the learning experience depended entirely on the student. Miss Carlson, Psychology, and Miss Farkes, American History, were new to Ramsey this year.

Mr. Johnson thoughtfully considers a student's question.

Julie,
 It's been a great year. Huh? To bad we weren't in any classes together. But we saw a lot of each other at Quarterback remember. Have fun with what's his name I know it but I forgot. See ya in this cool school next year and probably this summer. Good Luck Always Ramsey students developed confidence and skill in public speaking through taking a speech course. The courses were offered in both one—and two semester form. Whereas the full year class went into greater depth, the semester course was more practical for students with tight schedules.

For further development of communication skills, particularly in the field of acting, the drama course was available.

Foreign language courses provided students with background knowledge about a country and its customs through its language. Taking up to four years of a language was possible. Although Swahili was not offered as a language course, French, German, and Spanish were.

When speaking of Ramsey’s foreign language courses, one is deliberately excluded. However, to those who don’t speak it, mathematics is Greek.

A variety of math courses were offered this year. Besides the academic classes—algebra, geometry, and advanced math—occupational courses were available. These included business and technical math and a computer programming activity. One could leave any of the courses speaking mathematics like a native.

Science Looks to the Future

Kent Allen ponders over a difficult problem in Chemistry.

Ramsey's Science department planned for the future with a grant given in 1969 by the School Board. The grant was used to expand the present science wing providing for new and improved facilities. The construction may help next year, but this year it only distracted students and clogged the halls.

The department also planned the curriculum to help students expand; to ask questions, to understand why things are the way they are. The blueprint for this expansion, at least in Biology, was a new approach which included team teaching.

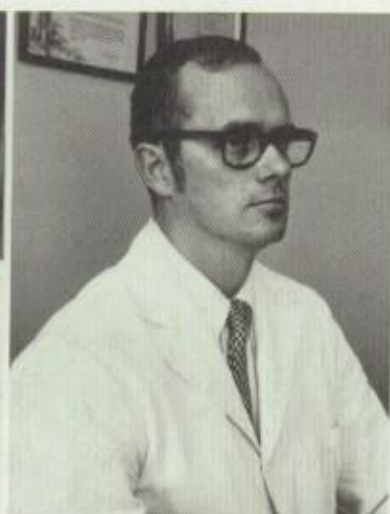

The foremen for this construction project were Ramsey's Science teachers. One of them, Mr. Theodore Molitor, a Chemistry teacher, was honored with the M.E.A.'s 'Teacher of the Year' title for 1969.

New Art Facilities This Year

To quote Mr. Tubbesing, construction workers were "part of the art department" this year. All new facilities were installed and the sound of machines raised the usual din to a small roar.

The whole department was redone. Walls were moved or just torn down. Rooms were added on, changed, and specialized to fit just one medium. Where floor space was used by looms and pottery wheels the cabinets were 7-12 feet from the floor. Where acids were used, safety cabinets were installed. Where watercolor paper was soaked, entire sinks were added. And each work station in jewelry got its own welding torch. These new facilities made the new student-specialization format more practical.

The Ramsey music department tried to offer something for every musical interest. It was always interesting to walk down the practice room hall fifth hour. One could conceivably hear a varsity or concert band trumpeter, a string quartet, and a vocal sectional all going at the same time.

Besides offering its usual band, orchestra, choir, and girls' chorus concerts, the music department provided entertainment in other areas. The pep band, led by Mr. Hallquist, played at athletic events. Mr. Brost directed the choir's traditional Christmas opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors". And in April Mr. Peterson's long-rehearsed brainchild, the Bach and Rock Music Festival, took place.

Industrial Arts and Home Ec.

The home economics department provided students with a variety of topics to choose from. Cooking seemed to be the class that students were aware of most. Aromas from home ec. classes penetrated the halls and mingled with Ramsey's hot lunch smells. Often it provided strange effects.

Sewing, family living, child development, interior design and clothing were some of the other courses offered.

Boys participated in cooking and family living courses. This has proven valuable to them now and will be even more so in the future.

Industrial Arts have proven to be some of Ramsey's most interesting courses. Wood shop, taught by Mr. Lewison, has engaged in several projects. Tim Heil created a grandfather clock. Mr. Lewison hopes to advance to plastics and fiberglass next year.

Excellent craftsmen were involved in Printing during the year. Pat McDermatt was nominated for craftsman of the year.

Electronics students worked with amateur ham radio this year. Students communicated with people in Belgium, Africa, Calif. and various places around the world.

Opportunities in Business

Business Education continued to expand its curriculum to include new and refreshing approaches, making courses more relevant to outside-the-classroom activities.

Students in Business Law visited local and district courts to study actual cases such as Smith vs. Jones. Those in Merchandising had a chance to attend the State and National Conventions held in Minneapolis.

Mr. Hill's Office Education students worked in various offices gathering first hand experience, along with credit and pay. Jobs at banks, company firms, stores, and schools gave those involved in Distributive Education and Trades and Industry Programs a chance to put into practice what they have learned throughout the year.

Changes were also seen for the future. The staff discussed the possibility of making Data Processing a semester course. New business machines will be installed as soon as the addition is completed.

The Ramsey Physical Education department had a real first this year. The sophomores actually enjoyed the rhythms unit. Or, at least, that is what the teachers said. Although a private poll showed that this opinion was far from unanimous, it was, nevertheless, more prevalent than usual. Some of the girls even formed committees to ask the instructors for a longer dancing unit.

Although there were few changes in curriculum in any of the physical education courses, the sophomore girls' class had one major addition. A spring golf unit was added to their course. The other Phy. Ed. classes remained substantially the same, with basic skills and sports in sophomore year and more difficult skills in advanced Phy. Ed. Phy. Ed. was not all the Physical Education department handled, however. To a large extent it also controlled the pep club, cheerleaders, and of course, athletics.

Individual Attention Available to the Masses

Besides the usual courses, extra services in many forms were available to the students this year. Behind the wheel driver's training was open to those who had completed classroom driver's ed.

Kids with scheduling mixups or personal problems could always go to see their counselor (that is, when he was free). It was not too uncommon to come in Monday morning and find one's counselor already busy all week.

Assistance was readily available in the library, and business boomed here, also. Although it was easy to find a librarian to help locate your book, there were few places to sit down and read it.

If the problem was one of health, the kids found the nurse's office open at all times. The nurse and her assistants were always there with a comforting word, a cold thermometer, and a pretty pink pass to get you back to class.

With a school as big and bustling as Ramsey, the behind-the-scenes employees were as vital as the faculty.

In the offices the secretaries kept track of our rowdy faculty, administration, and students, not to mention our often imperfect computer report card system.

The Custodial maintenance crew had a doubly hard job this year. Not only were students grubbing up the place, but the construction workers adding on to the building made our hallowed halls even less hospital-clean.

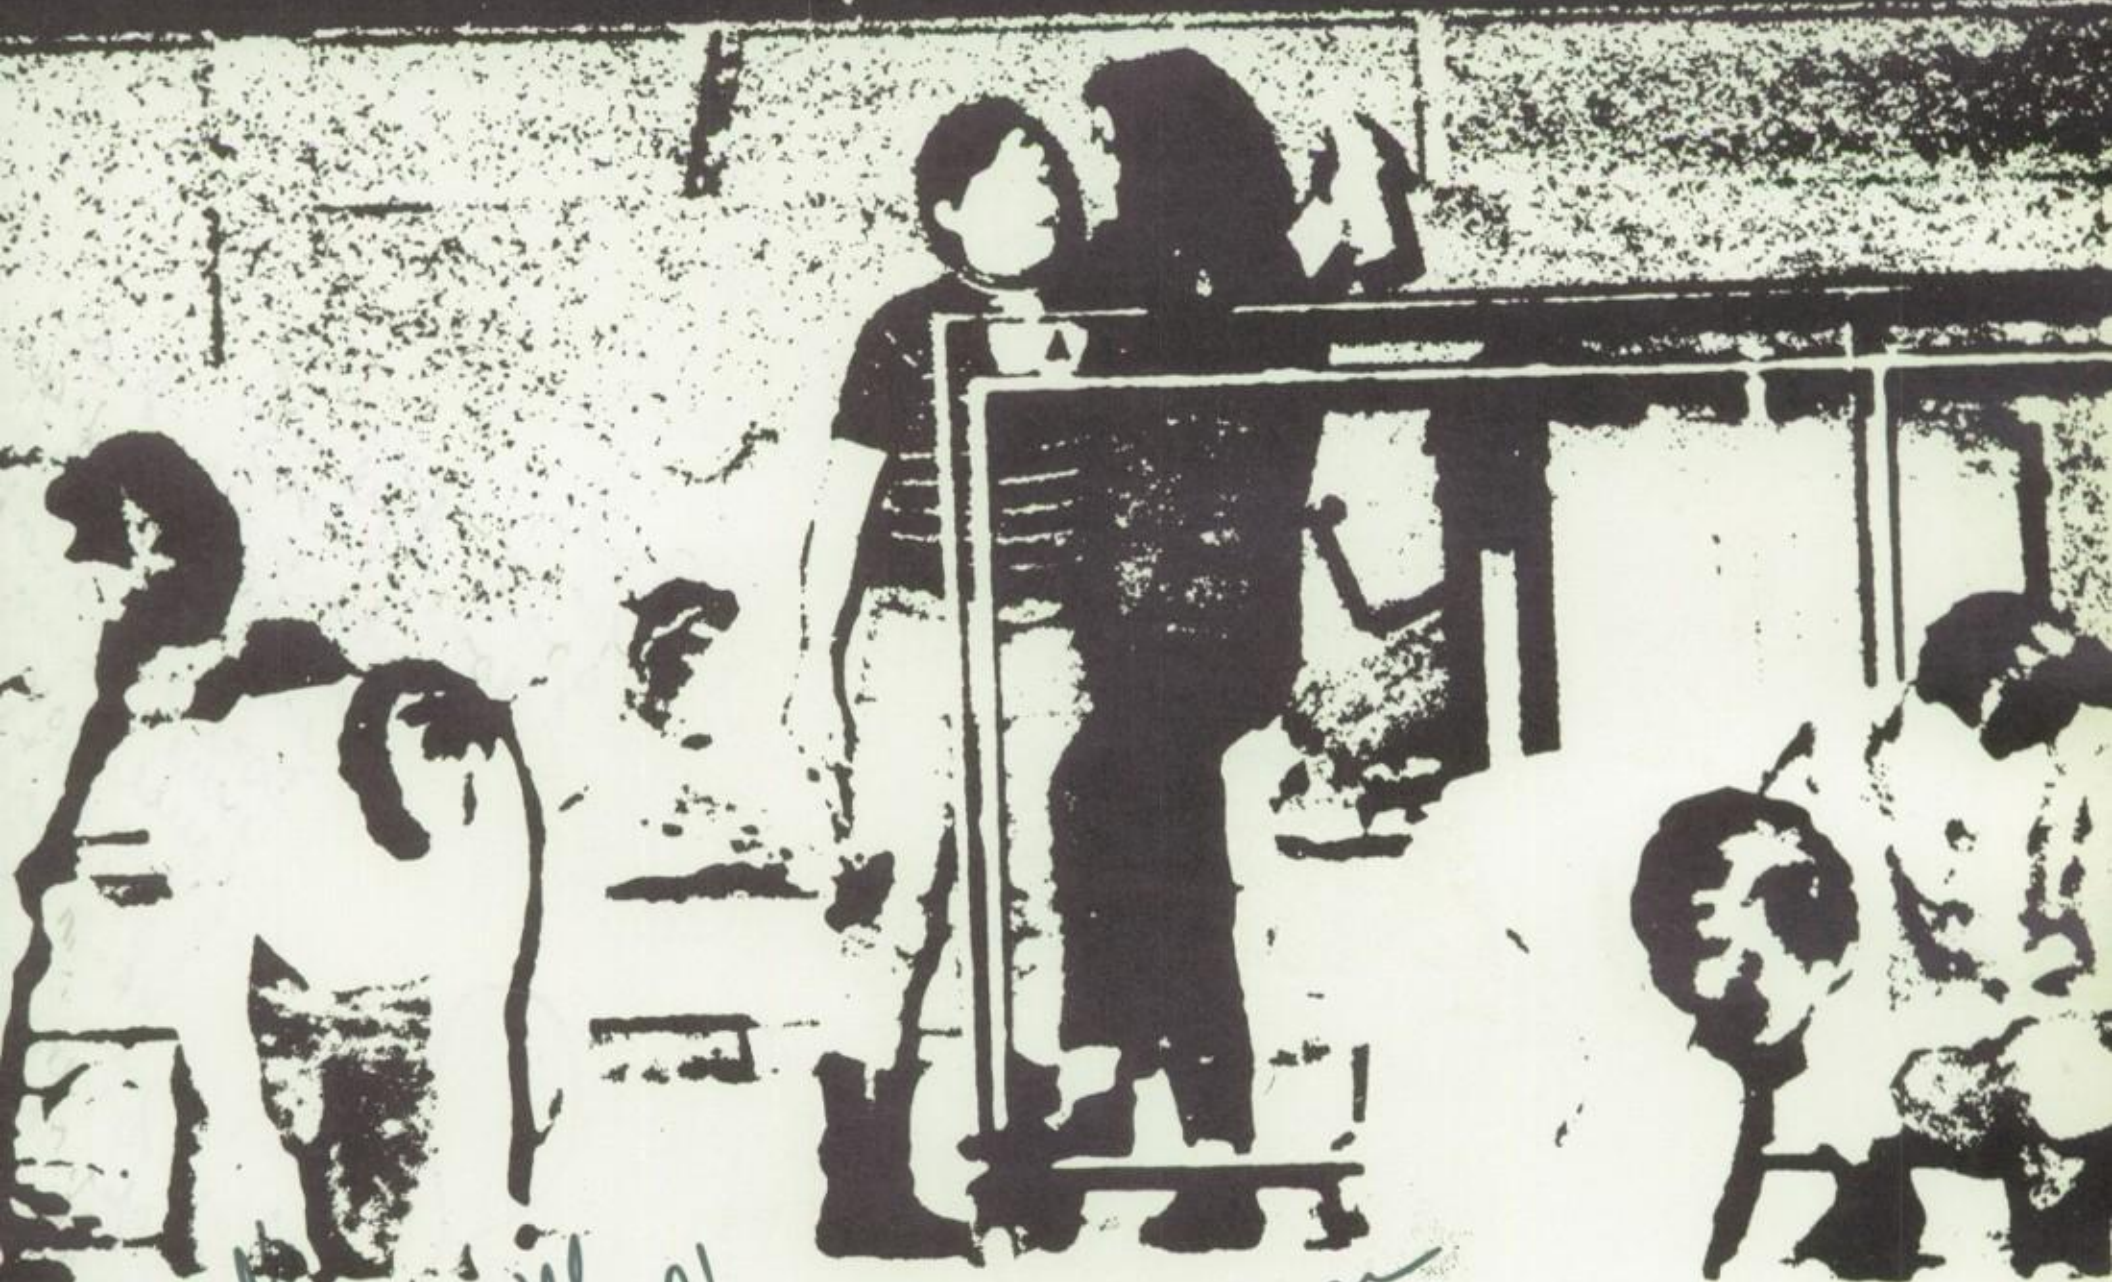

Back in the kitchen, Ramsey's dutiful school cooks again did what they could with the government-surplus oatmealburgers and pork chopettes. They even refused large bribes to poison the faculty's food.

Students Actively Involved

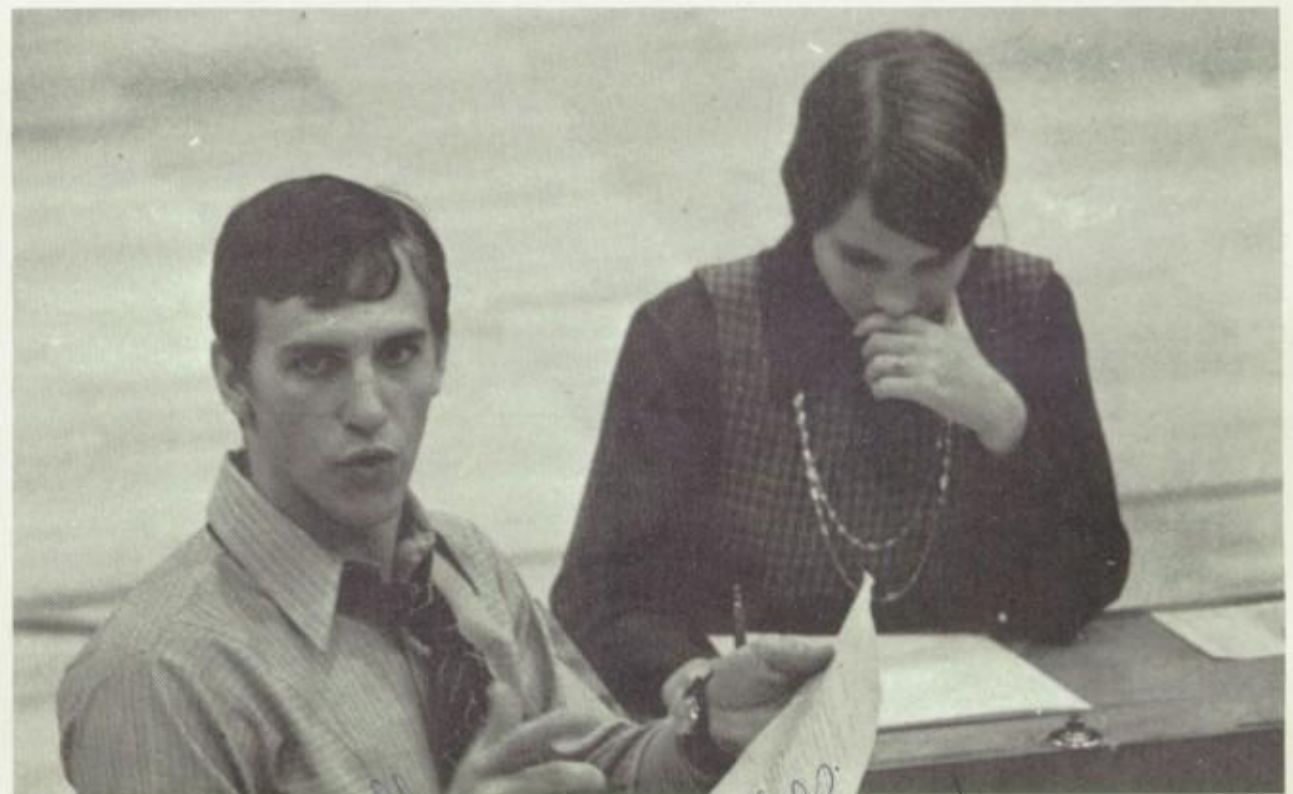

Student Council president, Chuck Drange, tries to get some of the old business out of the way.

Canteen Council's main function is to set the social standings at Ramsey. It consists of eight sophomores, ten juniors, twelve seniors and five holdover members. Mr. Gooding, the advisor, says the organization's purpose is to "provide the best dances for the greatest number of students." Canteen Council has also donated money to A.F.S., United Fund, and school projects.

Student Council began in turmoil. Executive board members played an active part in the teacher-school board disputes. After being organized some students felt it wasn't being efficient and attempted to abolish it. A flick-in, a Christmas party for less fortunate children and a forum were various activities sponsored by the student council.

The Student Council Executive board was made up of the following people. Chuck Drange was president, Steve Judge was vice-president, Rich Turlow was treasurer, Linda Kampf was secretary, and the sophomore representatives were Vicki Perman and Pam Schram. The following were the committee chairmen: Lynn Anderson, Student-Faculty Relations; Barbra-jean Metzger, Student Welfare; Mark Chenoweth, Cultural Exchange; Donna Shields and Dave Paulus, Lyceum; Anne-Marie Hauerwas, Public Relations; Bob Meek, External Affairs; Kay Liedholm, Student Activities, and Steve Judge, Internal Affairs.

Chuck Drange takes suggestions on the student's position in the teacher-school board dispute from the students, while Lynn Anderson acts as secretary.

A.F.S. student, Yoko Hayashi, is an accomplished pianist.

First of all I want to say, "Thank you" sincerely to each of you. Though this may sound trite, what else can I say to those who welcomed me at Ramsey, said hi and spoke to me friendly, helped me in the class and helped me to have a good year.

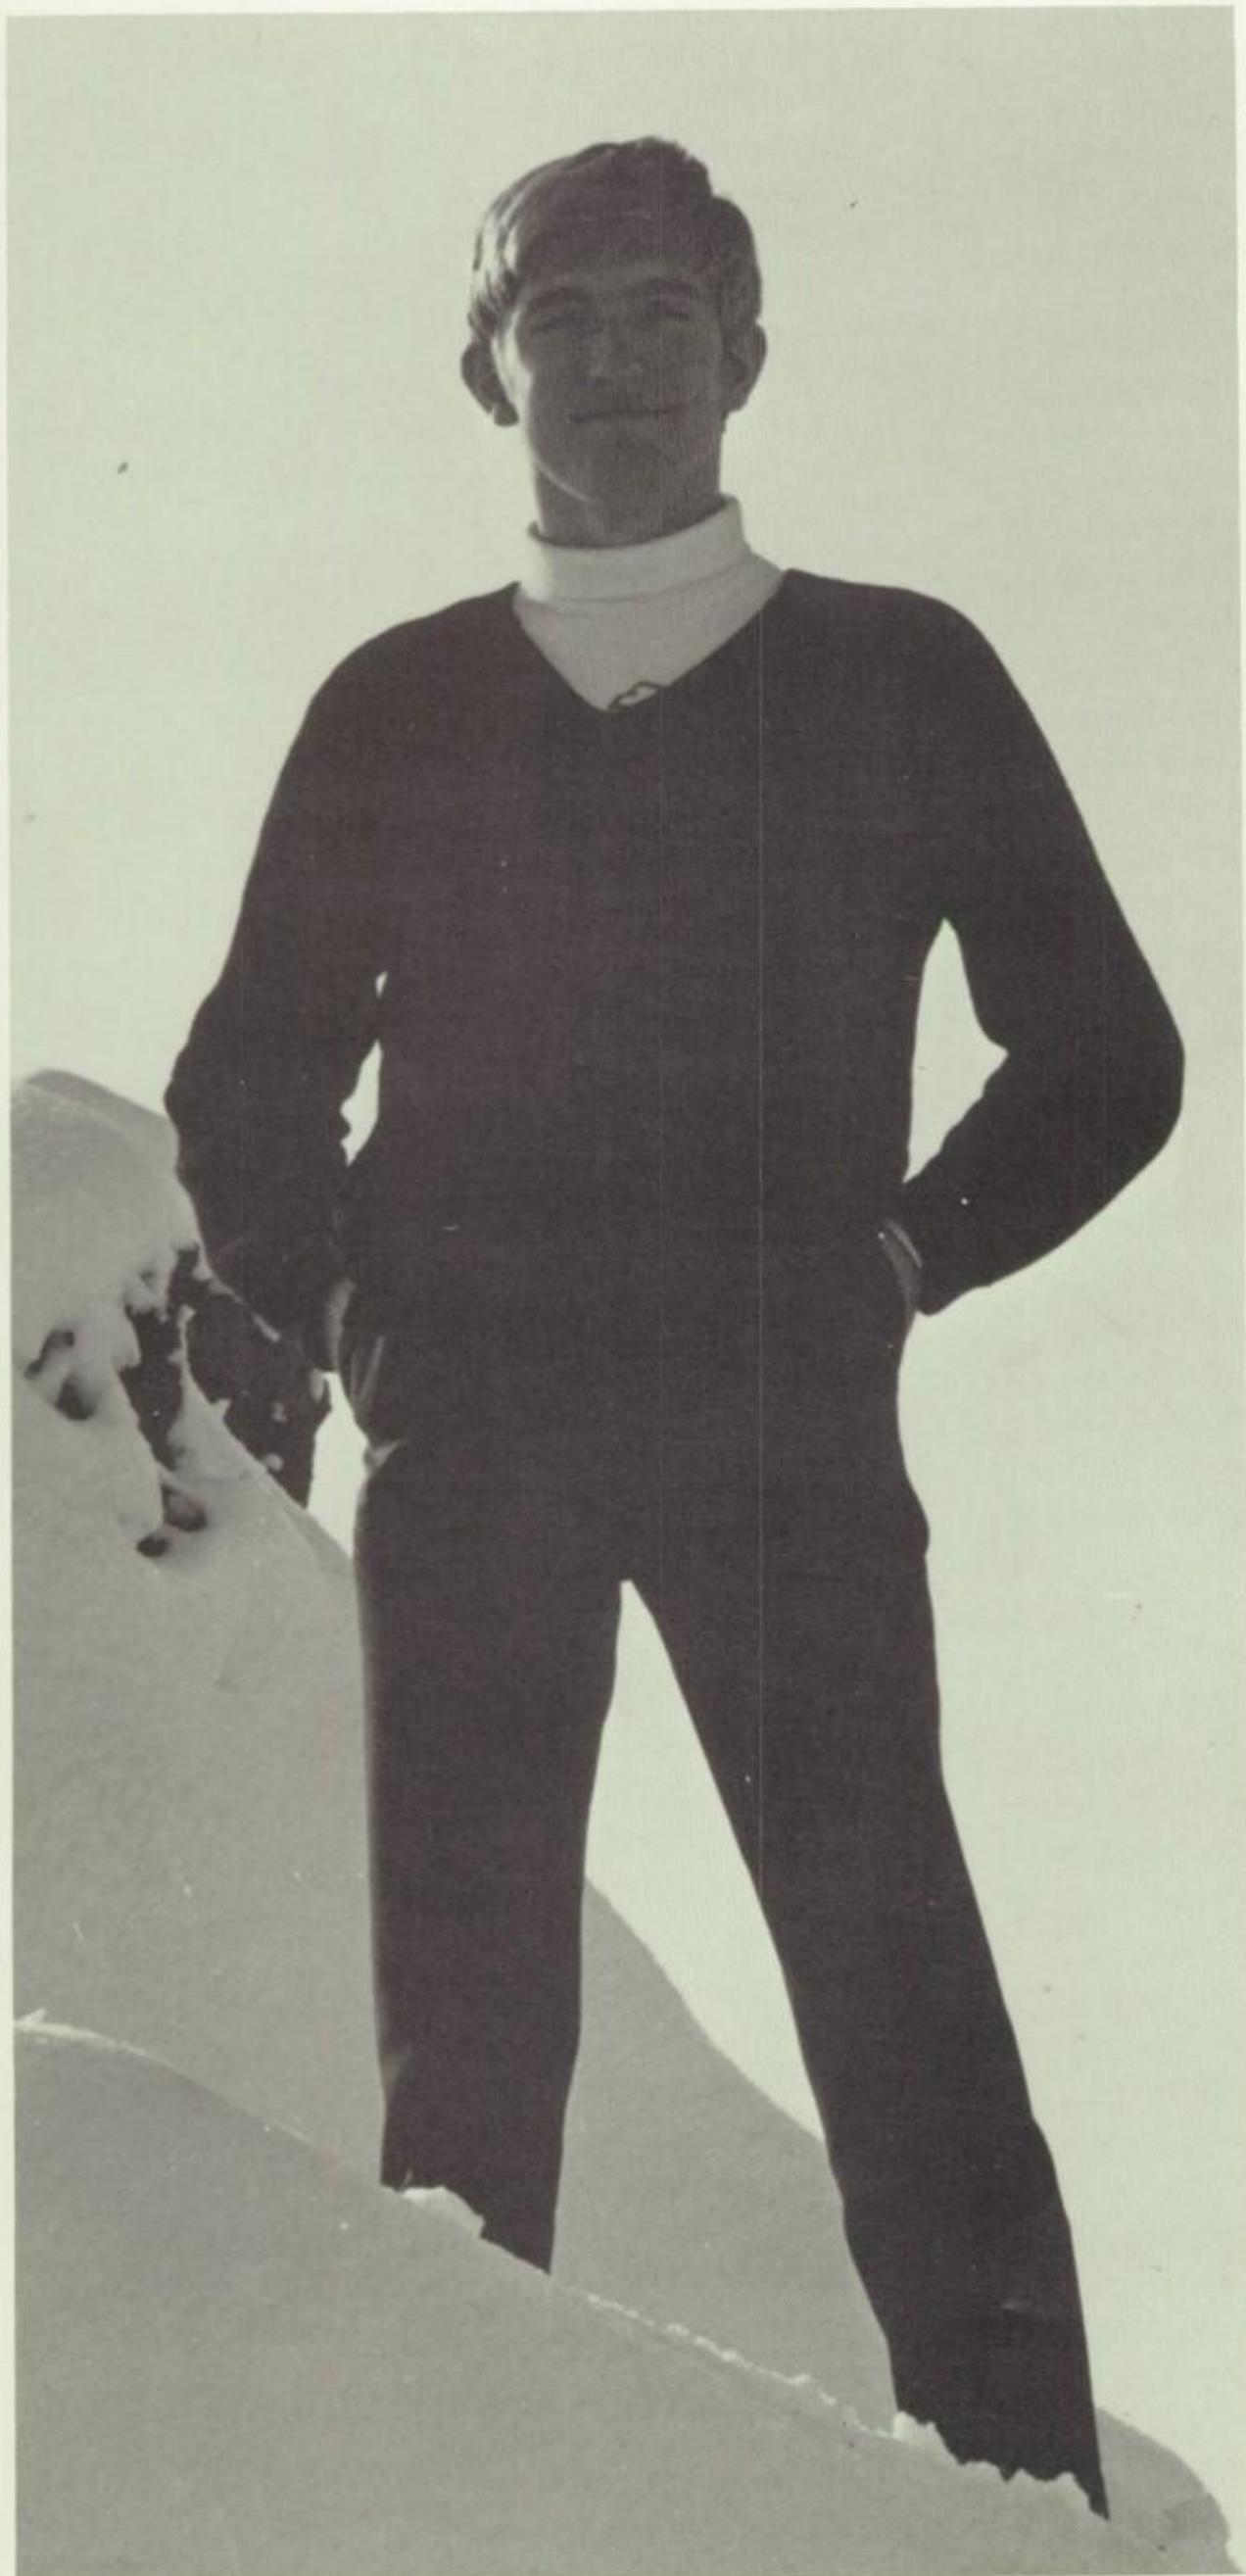

During this year I had a lot of new experiences. Football games, skating on lakes, turkeys on Thanksgiving, dances and dates—these were all new things for me. I also learned English, what Americans young people are thinking, how to live in a different environment, etc. Living in a different country made me aware of my own, even more.

Above all, however, the most precious thing I learned is that being American or Japanese or other nationalities, people are the same. They may look a little different from each other and national characteristics may differ too. But a little while after I reached here, I found myself associating with American friends as I would have done with Japanese friends. I felt even closer to some of the people here than to some of the people at home, in spite of my imperfect English.

I hope all of you who helped me during the year share this precious experience with me and enjoyed it.

Yoko

A.F.S. OFFICERS: M. Slenes, C. Johnson, S. Brust, N. Hakomaki, S. Boyd, K. Johnson.

I have very much enjoyed my year here in the United States, living with an American family and going to an American school.

I especially want to thank all those people who made my stay possible. Thank you too, to all the many wonderful people who made my year one of memorable experiences.

Coming to this country has shown that people the world over are just the same. We should forget about nationalism and think more of internationalism. Forget about being Americans, Russians or South Africans, and to think about being people, and sharing this world to make it a better place for all. Man is one world, and we are all members of one family—mankind.

"And I can tell that you share with us the hope that we citizens of the earth, who can solve the problems of leaving earth can also solve the problems of staying on it."

(Neil Armstrong replying to U Thant 8-13-69)

The teamwork of the Ramsey concert band was best shown in 1969's homecoming show, where it had to do all that grueling marching around while playing songs from "West Side Story." But it was an individual's band, also. It contributed many entries to the district solo and ensemble concert. Rich Thurlow, Polly Meyerding, Rita Christenson, and Eileen Strandlof were termed outstanding soloists by Mr. Hallquist.

This year's varsity band was the largest Ramsey had ever had. Its members' determination not to be outdone by the upperclassmen helped it add quality to its quantity. Mr. Hallquist called it "an outstanding band with balanced instrumentation." Besides the concerts shared with the concert band, the varsity group played at a 3-school festival held at Kellogg in April.

The bands had combined concerts in fall, winter, and spring, and were hosts to the district band contest in April. This was the first time the varsity band entered the contest.

It Takes Time and Talent to Play an Instrument

The Ramsey orchestra nearly outgrew its room this year. According to its director, Mr. Peterson, the 67-member group got "close to symphony orchestra size." The string section was fifty percent sophomores. Its young membership did not hold the orchestra back, however. It kept up its usual pace of regular concerts plus extra events. In March it joined orchestras from all over Roseville at the district orchestra festival. The orchestra also gave a concerto concert, considered exceptional for a high school group, in February.

Ramsey had advanced and sophomore stage bands this year. All types of popular music were played by the bands. The selections in the annual stage band concert featured each section as well as soloists. In addition to that concert, the stage bands performed at the winter band concert and the A.F.S. variety show.

Tryouts in May, 1969, began Ramsey's choir year for 1970. Voices trailed "in and out" of Mr. Brost's headquarters.

Staging a concert in the fall of 1969, Choir members began to show their strength. Bursting with excitement, members began to prepare for State contests. Mass in G minor by Vaughn Williams was the main objective. "Amahl and the Night Visitors", directed by Mr. Brost, featuring Cindy Lampert and Pam Miller, and the Choir, was a great success.

Several members of the Choir performed in the A.F.S. variety show, January 31. And all did an excellent job!

Rambler Business Staff member, Marcia Schmidt, completes the selling of another yearbook.

Out of the yearbook workshops at the University of Minnesota and Hastings charged a new breed of bird. Bearing the banner with the theme "This Year," it came in two varieties.

I. Ramblus editorialus

Although housed in room 235 under the care of Mr. McAfee, this bird was quick to leave the nest on "Rambler assignments." It could be found all over school, waving a Permanent Pink Pass and chanting, "I am NOT wandering around. I'm on Rambler!" Industrious, yet fun-loving Editorialus is who to blame for this book.

II. Ramblus biznessius

Commonly found in room 236 under Mrs. Burgess' wing, the business staff bird was often seen with one outstretched hand, begging for money. This bird spent a lot of its time convincing students that Rambler '70 was a bargain. "It just SOUNDS like highway robbery" was its familiar call. Hardworking Biznessius took care of the business that Editorialus left in its tracks.

Ramsey survived genus Ramblus and got a yearbook besides, this year. But NEXT year? We can't be certain . . .

Under the co-editors, Judy Collins and Sandy Miller, "Scope" supplied Ramsey with its only literary magazine. Its main purpose this year was not to give the students just a poetry magazine, but more of a fine arts magazine.

Editor Meg Rice and the rest of Newsbureau kept Ramsey very well informed of happenings inside and outside of Ramsey, by putting up a bulletin board with recent newspaper clippings.

"Blueprint," Ramsey's newspaper, was under a new instructor this year, Miss Lupient. The goal of Editors Jeff Holman and Craig Eckhart for the paper this year was to supply Ramsey students with a wide range of issues and topics that are important to their public and private lives, and to present them as honestly or as objectively as possible.

Quill and Scroll was made up of members of each of Ramsey's publications. Their job was to put out the Senior Edition at the end of the year.

Victory Is Their Cry

Bouncing with exciting, Ramsey's cheerleaders along with the fans cheered athletes onto numerous victories. Rain, cold weather, and the idea of cheering on ice didn't stunt their enthusiasm. New uniforms and newly composed chants were a part of the '69-70' program. Sherren Rothbauer ended her senior year of cheerleading early because she broke her leg while skiing.

Majorettes performed to various selections to the delight of half-time audiences several times throughout the year. New uniforms were also an added attraction to their routines. Many of their half-time shows consisted of lighted batons, which thrilled the children of the audiences.

Enthusiasm for sports and the need to unwind again once more attracted a number of Junior and Senior girls to G. A. A. this year.

Girls participated in a variety of sports; volleyball, baseball, and basketball, were the more prominent ones.

Juniors and Seniors battled it out against each other to uphold the individual ego's but often forces combined to create an even better effect.

Seniors reluctantly moved on to leave the Juniors the defending champions.

Skiing—Exercise, Adventure, and Thrills

Getting to the bottom is harder than it looks.

Steve Kanton shows his skill at a tepee stand.

Dave Lund does a tip stand.

Part of the joy of skiing is the beautiful scenery.

A T-bar is one of the faster ways up the hill.

One of the more exciting activities at Ramsey was the Ski Club. Members were provided with various skiing activities. Trips were planned to Afton, Pine Bend, Welch Village, and Trollhaugen. Several trips were canceled because of wanted and unwanted snow.

Crowds of students were drawn to the ski club meetings conducted fifth hours. Guest speakers were brought in. Doug Lilyquist spoke on several occasions. Demonstrations were also given during the season. All in all the ski club members were offered an exciting season.

Ingredients Behind Ramsey's Spirit

The Ramsey Athletic Supporters, better known as the R.A.S., is now in its fourth glorious season. Many people ask "What did they accomplish during the year?" Well as far as we know they accomplished very little if anything except maybe picking up girls at the various athletic endeavors. R.A.S. also played a big part in Sno-Week activities by sponsoring the broomball tournaments. The R.A.S. acted as "unbiased" referee's, thus providing the seniors with a win.

All the King's Horses and All the King's Men

One of the more exciting moments in a game of chess.

Mr. Winsdor assists Mike Jackson.

Marc Miller, Dave Lankinen and Paul Husby took advantage of one of Ramsey's many opportunities and conversed with people around the world last year. Students involved with the ham radio usually pursue it as a hobby but the general knowledge can be used in civil defense and other communication fields. Africa, South America, Belgium, Russia, and the Arctic were some areas reached. Students participating found this one of the more interesting activities of the year.

"All the Kings horses and all the Kings men" helped Ramsey's chess club check its way into third place last year. Although every member was important Al Frayum and Dave Messer were the most valuable chess-men. Chess club members slightly disturbed the stereotype of chess players by goofing portions of the year away.

"Resolved: That congress should prohibit unilateral U.S. Military intervention in foreign countries" was the topic of debate for the '69-70' debate team.

Team winnings were great in the beginning of the year but later declined to scattered successes.

Under the guidance of Miss Field and Mr. C. Johnson, the team came in second in the Region Preliminaries.

Overnights to Duluth, Mankato and St. Peter were activities debaters were involved in. The army tank built by debate for snow sculpture was one of its greater accomplishments.

LeDraMusArt, formally the Humanities Lecture Series, had an exciting year. Their purpose was to help broaden students' cultural experience by bringing in speakers of various cultures.

Teen corps started off the year by giving a lyceum to the students and arousing interest and enthusiasm for Teen Corps. The lyceum was a success and succeeded in getting many students involved with the organization. This year members have been involved in planning and sending volunteers to Appalachia, where they will work together with the underprivileged. A fund raising square dance was sponsored in February to send students to Appalachia.

R.O.E.A., newly named Ramsey Office Education Club, was an old activity at Ramsey. V.I.C.A. and D.E.C.A. were merchandising clubs that sponsored the school supply store which has been a great success for several years.

FHA gives girls a time to discuss new ideas.

Aside from the usual speakers, movies and class discussions, FTA had a "Project Understanding." It was an exchange between Ramsey's FTA and FTA groups from other schools. The girls would spend about three days at the designated school, learning and getting new ideas about different FTA groups. Their annual spring project was a tea for the teachers in the library.

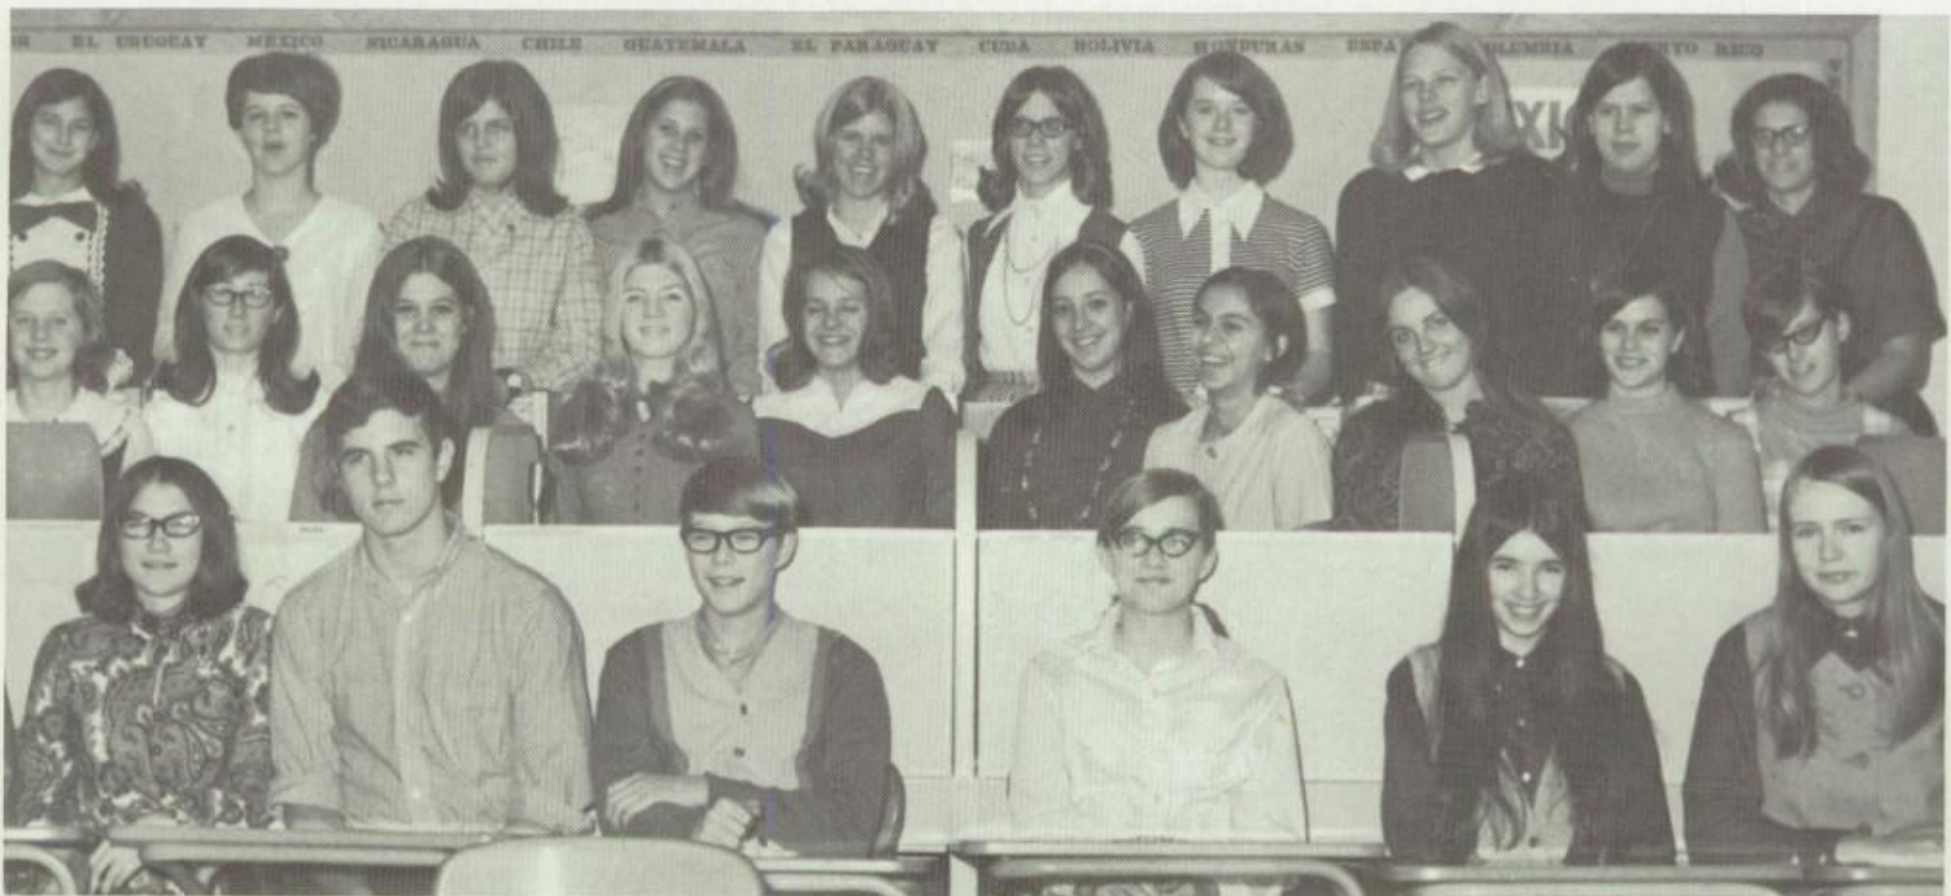

The major change for the Future Nurses was their name. This year they were called Health Career Club. The major projects they had were field trips to hospitals, nursing homes, and institutions for retarded children. They also had guest speakers and films.

Future Homemakers of America, better known as FHA, had a large number of girls this year. They went on an all day field trip, which took them on a tour of the Ford Company and Betty Crocker. Kay Liedholm, president, also arranged for different speakers and films that benefited the members of FHA.

Three of Ramsey's activities this year had their membership restricted to students in particular courses. Few ineligible students, however, protested on the basis of constitutional rights. Those who didn't take a language just weren't interested in the French, German, and Spanish clubs.

For those who took a language and wanted to use it more than one hour a day, the language clubs were interesting activities. The French club sponsored a French-speaking play. German club members saw movies, played games, staged skits, and had guest speakers. The Spanish club went on a field trip to a restaurant, where the club members got a taste of authentic Spanish cuisine. Through these and other activities the foreign language clubs gave background information on the country of the language's origin. As they did this, they provided practice in the use of the language.

Willing students who had a free hour helped in the library and Ramsey offices again this year. Those in the attendance office helped with attendance reports and delivered messages. Those in the guidance office helped organize college materials as well as student appointments. High school office aides got valuable experience with the phones and intercom. Those helping the nurse made everything from bulletin boards to beds. In the library, books and passes were checked by student assistants. But no matter what the particular job was, all the aides got to use their free hours in a constructive way. In the words of an office employee, "They were indispensable."

In addition, a number of students were teaching assistants. They provided the teachers with much-needed help. These and all the other assistants got relief from dull study halls through working for the school.

Junior Academy of Science began the year with discussions of past accomplishments and set objectives for the year. Field trips were planned for the Bio-Chemistry lab. at the U. of M. and the Minnesota Planetarium.

Gary Larson and Karen Kempf worked on individual projects. As a group they worked at the science fair and took first prize in Ramsey's snow sculpture.

Ramsey's intellects once again enjoyed a year of computer lab. Skills were developed and brushed up on throughout the year.

Students interested in printing were offered a fifth hour activity to broaden their minds on the subject. Several printers used the hour to prepare entries for state judging.

well, do you? I don't think so. Stay the way you you are (wonderly - hahaha), you're a good kid!!

Art Services was created for the student especially interested in art. It is a group of individuals who design various publications and assist the faculty in making displays for rooms, hallways and showcase.

Ten boys in Ramsey inconspicuously worked behind the scenes as members of the Stage Crew. Stage Crew excels in sound, lighting, and special effects for lyceums, school plays, music in the cafeteria and a number of other things.

"Why go someplace else to be cheated when you can do it here?" Slogans such as this were not uncommon in the supply store this year. DECA, who sponsored it, used these slogans to show that it meant business.

Dittomasters became a part of Ramsey's fifth hour activities five years ago. They serve a dual purpose. Extra material, whether it be for the classroom or sports activities, is published for the student. It is a great asset to the teacher and the student.

"Snap!" Ramsey's photo department strikes again. Staff members were kept busy with photo requests from Rambler, Scope, and Blueprint. Lurking in the halls and peering from behind conveniently placed plants they accomplished their missions.

Students capable of operating A-V equipment were recruited into the projectionists club. Assistance was provided to anyone requesting it, and they helped the year to run along without any hang ups.

A.V. assistants had a busy year putting away and sending out films. Another time consuming aspect of their department was to keep all equipment in operating order and supply equipment wherever needed.

Girls Sports Expanded

Rough or smooth?

Love . . . 40!

Girls invading the tennis courts and jogging around the track? With spring weather the girls teams are out every-day for practice, using all available space and time. Tennis and track, both still quite new to Ramsey, are expanded every year. Track grew to include more relays, dashes, hurdles and numerous field events. This offered more girls the opportunity to participate. The tennis team was busier than last year, playing an average of one match a week. Both teams, coached by Miss Brown, had an exciting season. Although girls sports lacks some organization, it doesn't lack in enthusiasm. "A good time had by all, comes way ahead of any score."

Julie,
You were one of the funniest girls I had noticed this year in any class. Besides being the funniest you were one of the smartest. You're a nice person Julie and stay that way. Good Luck -

Julie,
 I don't have much to say because I'm talked out but I'll say do something really wild before the year is out so that your children will think you were a real stud.
 Maybe I'll see you next year and maybe not. But I will always remember you anyway as the girl who always smiles when there's nothing to smile about.

Always
 Mark
 Fish (who else)

Julie, Did you know that out of all the books I've written in so far, this is the first that I kept on one page, written neatly, and didn't mess up? Take a look at M. Newman's some time. Anyway, like I said to Dr Morrison, I know how much fun we've all had all year in Smith's 6th English class, all year I know that I've had this class and its teacher on a pedestal all year. Maybe that's why I fall asleep every day when I come.
I've had a beautiful time these past few years knowing you, maybe not very well, but I'd really enjoy go-to know you better. You're beautiful and sexy maybe someday you'll be a model or something.
No kidding? I suppose I better go now.
I messed your book up pretty much.
Hope to see you ~~at~~ on the beach this summer, and stay away from trouble and booze? Leave all that kind of stuff for people like me. Will see you later.

(Thanks for letting me mess up your book)

Ramsey Ties for 4th in Conference

The 1969 varsity football team under the expert guidance of Mr. Lars Overskei and led by co-captains Dan Johnson and Dale Wessel tied for fourth place in the Suburban Conference. Out of the nine games played the Rams won five, lost four and tied zero.

Co-captain Dan Johnson was elected the most valuable player by his teammates. Johnson, co-captain Dale Wessel, Steve Sigstad, and Bill Cafferty were named all-conference players.

This season Ramsey's biggest claim to fame is that it alone defeated both of the top conference powers, Kellogg and White Bear high schools.

The 1969 Cross Country team, coached by Mr. Paul Busch and led by co-captains Craig Granse and Brad Ellevold, placed first in the suburban conference, despite the change in the course from two to three miles. This was Ramsey's thirteenth Conference Championship in fifteen years.

Ramsey also won its sixth District Championship in ten years, and its tenth Regional Championship in fifteen years. 1969 was also the twentieth year that Ramsey has participated in the State meet, placing third.

Co-captains Granse and Ellevold were named all-conference in addition to their other achievements; Granse placing first in Conference, District, Region and Ellevold second in each.

The New Musical — “Fantasticks”

The Spring play, “The Fantasticks”, was presented by the Senior Class on April 16th, 17th, and 18th. It was directed by Mike Hanily with the help of Dan Peterson and Miss Carol O'Connor, the vocal director from Parkview Jr. High.

Tryouts for this play were open for all Ramsey students who wished to try out their acting ability. After the cast was chosen, the committees for make-up costumes, props and set construction were chosen and started immediately, to begin production.

The Senior Class, in the meantime, was going around trying to sell tickets to their friends and relatives. The class selling the most tickets got to have a party.

The play turned out to be a big success! There was a full house each night that it was presented. And after Saturday night's performance the stage was struck down with as much energy as it took to put it up.

Southern Belles & Their Beaux

The 1969 Senior Prom was characterized by its setting of "Gone with the Wind." A veranda extending from the bleachers was the main feature. Blossoming trees were scattered throughout the gymnasium with a fountain in the middle. Portraits and scenic pictures decorated the walls. Crystal lights faintly illuminated the room.

Couples danced to the music provided by Dave Whitbeck and his orchestra. Two very beautiful singers, Cindy Lambert and Julie Johnson sang a few selections.

Tradition of Prom at Ramsey was followed almost to the word. A park bench was obtained and pictures were taken as in the past. The only thing lacking was the magic crystal ball. The perfection of all else made up for its absence, though.

For the majority of the seniors, this was their last Prom at Ramsey, but it would be talked about for a long time, and it will remain in their memories for a still longer time.

As the night went on, Prom-1969 drew to a close and was "Gone With the Wind."

A Long Awaited

Dr. Nickerson was the guest speaker.

"So what's graduation?"

Graduates eagerly await the coming graduation.

Moment Has Finally Arrived

Seniors ended their long years of basic schooling with the receiving of a diploma on June 3, 1969, at 9:00 p.m. Dr. Neal C. Nickerson, Jr., of the Education Department of the University of Minnesota, was the guest speaker. He spoke on "Varieties of Disenchantment." Curtis Johnson presented the senior class to Mr. George E. Seaberg, chairman of the Board of Education, who in turn presented the seniors with their diplomas.

That night was just the climax of a great year for the seniors. Especially for Julie Johnson and Rick Webb who were voted outstanding senior girl and Alex Award winner by their fellow classmates.

It was also a year when they found their pocket books empty with the payments of senior pictures, announcements, the prom, their last high school yearbook and money for college tests and applications. Now the long awaited moment had finally come, to the relief of all the seniors.

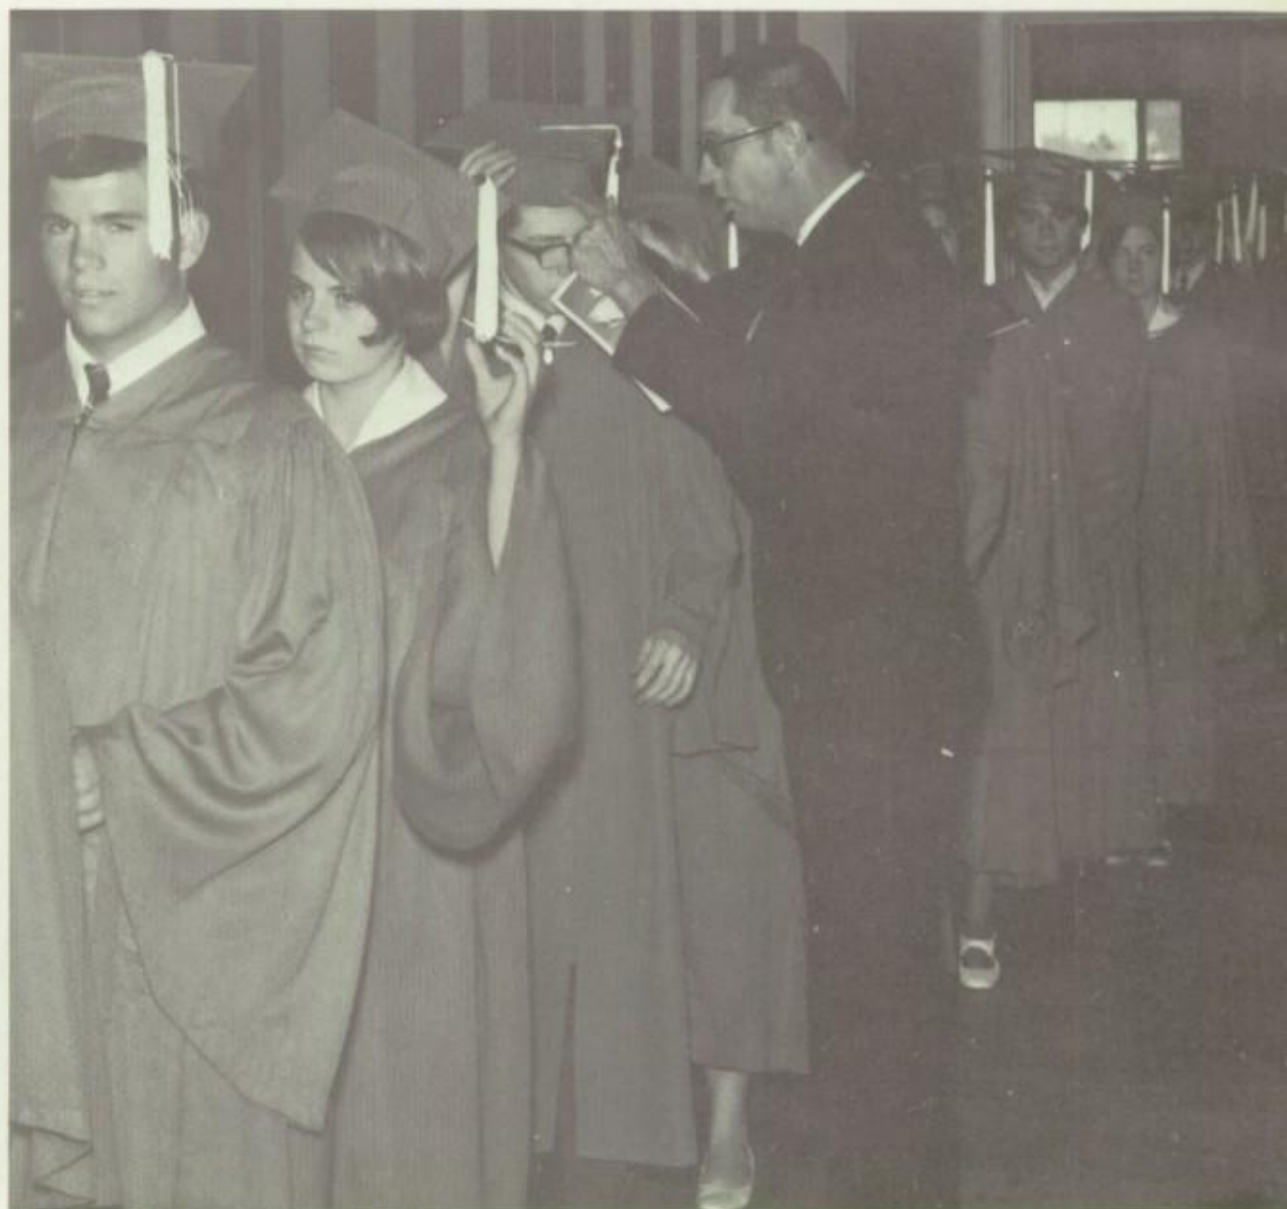

The night ended with the receiving of diplomas.

"Can I help you?"

"Now people, it's very important to have it on right."

New School Year Begins with Sit-Ins, Walkouts, and Many Heated Discussions

This year, on September 12, Dr. Lloyd Nielson and James Bonkowske, aware of walkout plans, held a lyceum first hour to explain the teacher-board situation. This lyceum was planned to prevent student unrest but soon became the cause of it. Dissatisfied students refused to leave the gym and a part sit-in, part walkout demonstration developed. Confusion reigned until 10:30 when school was dismissed.

When no settlement was made by Monday, the 15th, the previously scheduled walkout was held. Any planned organization dissolved. Some students went to Central Park, some sat in the football field, and the rest returned to class. By 11 o'clock the football field group was back in school. Those at the park stayed away, but their holiday was not considered a triumph for the cause. Many students were disappointed and expected no results from the proceedings, but activities were restored two days later.

September 22-26 was Ramsey's Homecoming Week. The queen election was different from other years in that it was more than a glamor contest. Political opinions were also represented in the person of Barb Metzger. Other candidates included Shelly Hansen, Lynn Mann, and Mardi King, but Sherren Rothbauer took the title. She received her crown from Julie Johnson at the coronation on Wednesday. The ceremony went off without a hitch. The audience enjoyed M.C.J.'s performance as emcee.

On the afternoon of the 26th the Homecoming football game was held. It began with a parade of various student-made floats, the concert band taking first prize. Then it was game time. To the tune of the rousing rouser, the Ramsey RAMS burst onto the field. At the kick-off, hundreds of balloons were released. Some were returned, at a later date, from as far away as Canada. The game was hard-fought, but the RAMS won it. The 24-20 score was close enough to be exciting, yet still a decisive victory over our traditional foe, Kellogg.

Later that same day, Ramsey's victory was celebrated at the "Comeback" dance. The whole Homecoming week was a ball!

Sadie Hawkins and the Fall Play "Dracula"

Harold Akaki seems to have found something interesting to swat at.

Ramsey held its fifth annual Sadie Hawkins dance on November seventh. Any girl who could hook a boy was invited to attend. She could even have gone all the way and married him for the very inexpensive price of 25¢. And if there was somebody you didn't really like or someone you had to pay back for some dirty trick, you could pay a little fee and have him put in jail.

Probably the climax of the evening was the root beer drinking contest. The object was, of course, to see who could drink the most root beer without getting sick. Ramsey's own Mark Baden was the grand winner.

While all these activities were going on, The Sir Raleighs entertained the people on the dance floor.

To present Brams Stokers "Dracula" has long been the dream of Mike Hanily, Ramsey's drama director. This dream finally came true on November 12, 13, 14 and 15. With the help of Dann Peterson, Mr. Hanily set up the cast and other committees for the presentation.

The melodramatic presentation turned out to be a great success. Each night's showing had a full house plus some who had to be turned away because of the big crowd. There were also two "experienced" nurses in the audience in case anyone felt faint or got a sharp pain in the neck. On the whole, the play was a delightful success.

Student Council Sponsors the Christmas Party

Ramsey held its second annual Christmas party for the children of Our Lady of Guadalupe School, on December 19, 1969. Gifts for the children were donated by the students of Senior Social, American Studies and English 10 classes.

The children were greeted as they entered the cafeteria, by students who volunteered to be elves or clowns. Barb Nelson then led them in a rousing chorus of different Christmas carols. They then anxiously gathered around the several pinatas, waiting for their turn to swing the bat and see if they would be able to break it.

The only negative feature was its shortness. Overall, the party was a lot of fun for the kids.

It started in drama class. The question was how to learn to build a set. The brainstorm: If we were having a performance, we'd HAVE to build a set! Thus was born a partly reasonable facsimile of the Dudley Riggs Brave New Workshop. It was titled The Blue and White Revue, OR (there had to be an "or") SEX, the Adolescent Dream. The revue, a series of blackouts, covered (uncovered?) sex in the prison yard, playground, theater, and even the Enchanted Forest. Not all of the skits were concerned with "the adolescent dream" however. Dracula, air pollution, lectures, and panel shows were also given the class' "treatment." The show was a lot of fun and drew full-house crowds both days it was performed.

lighted 1970's AFS Variety Show

Yoko Hayashi displays her talent by playing a duet with Dave Paulus.

Masters of Ceremonies Mark Johnson and Dave Germer gallantly guided us through the 1970 A.F.S. Variety Show, "Cabaret." The purpose behind the show was to raise money for our American Fields Service as well as encourage student talent and originality.

There was certainly originality shown with such acts as a monologue-type song about the football blues, an interpretive and an acrobatic dance, a twanging guitar player and two groups of folk singers.

Besides Ramsey's regular students, our two foreign exchange students were also seen. Yoko Hayashi displayed her talent by playing several piano duets with Dave Paulus. Vaughn Harrison brought in an American exchange student that had been to Africa and they exchanged an amusing piece of dialogue about Africa and the changes it is making.

Last but not least, once again the French Can-Can did their thing.

"You stick your left foot in and you shake it all about," and around and around went the Hokey-Pokey dancers.

February 2nd Marks the Beginning

"Snow Fever" rapidly spread throughout Ramsey's population as Snow Week 1970 began.

Activities began February second with a lyceum, highlighted by the coronation of the 1970 royalty. Chosen to reign as king and queen were Tom Flaherty and Marty Peterson. Prince and princess were Ronn Olson and Debbe Tennyson and escort and attendant were Gary Faulhaber and Ruth Ryan.

Brooms clashed and heads crashed as the broomball tournaments got under way. Mr. Genz's Gordie's Sporties defeated Mr. Steinberg's Super Six in the championship play-off.

Chess members competed in tournaments throughout the week. Alan Grayum took first place. Toboggan races, a creative writing contest and the movie, "Wait Until Dark," were other Snow Week activities.

The Snow Dance ended the week's festivities. "The Future" supplied the music and couples supplied the gay mood.

Lee Tedrow and Harry Henderson have the solution to the pancake eating contest.

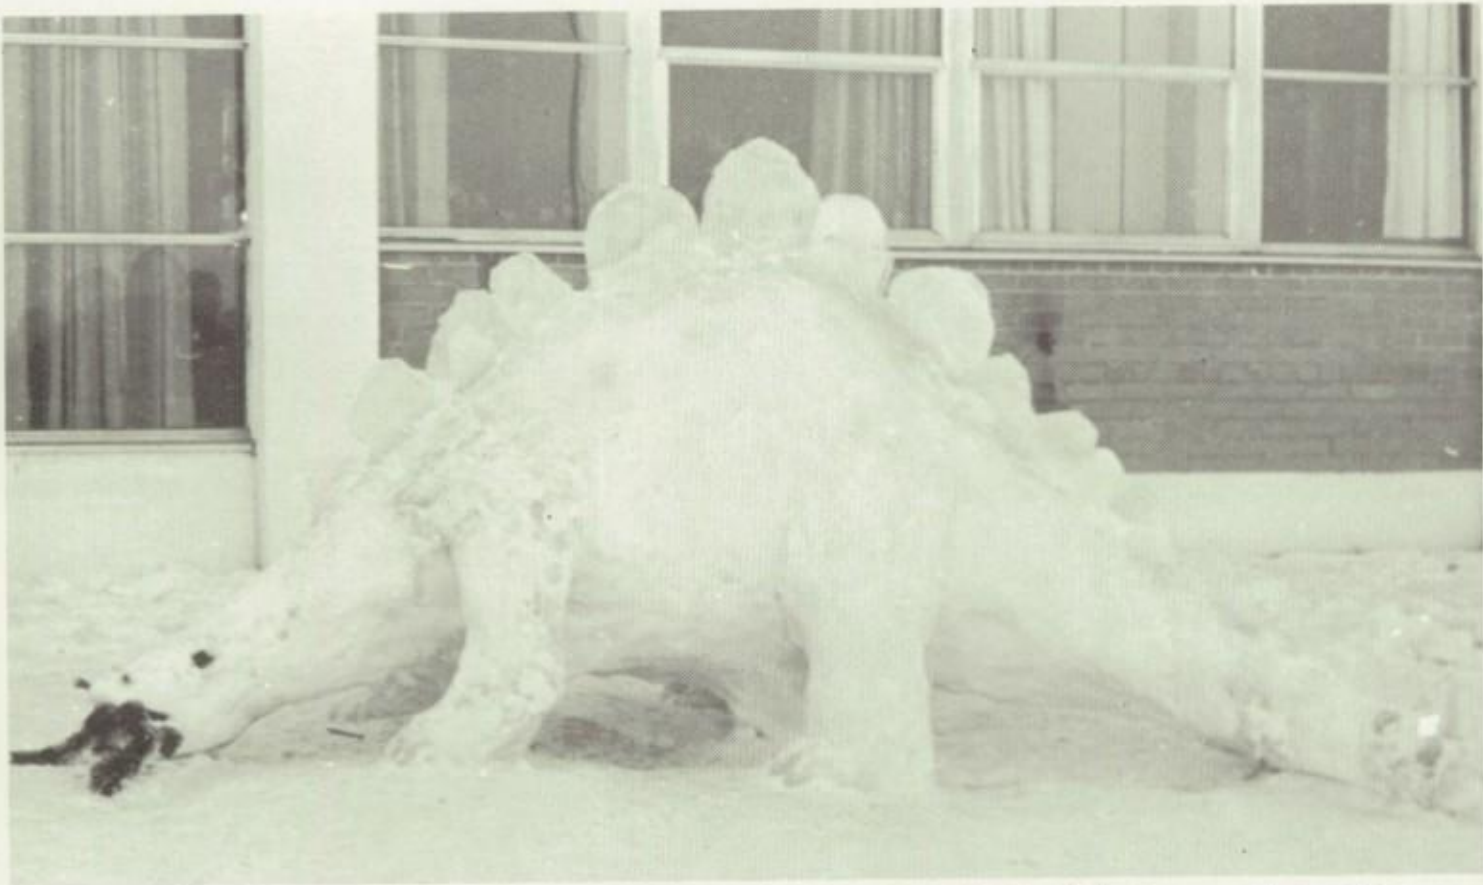

"Are you sure that's the way it's supposed to go?" asks Barb Metzger.

Julie,
well, it's really been a riot
this year knowing ya.
Have a great summer,
and hope to see ya
next year.
Love 'n' Luvs,
Sue ☺

Julie—
We're finally through with Smith and he doesn't teach Eng. 12 fortunately. But maybe I'll see you next year
anyway.

see ya—
Pam

Julie -
I don't mind telling you I hated History but we did have fun and you taught me alot (you know what I mean Babooshka) Will sorry ever get rid of us. Well thanks for being a friend and keep on smiling cause it was made for your face yuk whata cut always. Dr. Topitz

Julie - Well you our send little devil what can I say (how bout meet me at midnight?) oh well thats the way it goes Have fun this summer & next year

Mike S.
"70"

Julie,
I'm glad we were in play ed together this year and we got to know each other better have a great kid
with a great personality
Have fun this summer
(with your broccol)
Keep up that Smile always Love & fun

JULIE: YOUR A REAL NICE
KID I AND DONT CHANGE!
HAVE FUN THIS SUMMER, AND I HAVE TO ADMIT, YOU WERE
THE SMARTEST KID IN SMITH'S CLASS.....

July, Well, what a year huh? Think of all the CRAZY things we did what a mess some of them turned out to be. Remember that Saturday nite up at Rose Bowl.... Forget that my dumb party - that goofy mix + match of yours - stenberg's test - getting blitzed. It's really been a fun year Right little

Beer

here What would you do if I went and told all the mental stuff you told me???

KILL..... like the incident at Kinnings + so on + so fourth. This year - all the hockey games + B-Ball games. How can we forget Mac's - we would have never had some of the fun... remember that one fight.... that night was ~~really~~ really fun. Remember bowling out at the U of M. - us, the pro bowlers

Don't forget all the times I waited for you out at Quarter Back - now you hafta wait for me. This Summer is really gonna be fun..... we're gonna go up to Danny Brook over the 4th + sking alot - so I learn now - P.S. I hafta tell you something later....

July
 I sure liked looking at the back of your head every day six hour.
 Bob Whittet

Julie,
 Well Julie I guess you could say that we've pulled through this year - ^{BOY!} All of everyone's problems BLAH! There's really been some humdinger in Mrs Smiths class - YAY! Well YOU KNOW you'll be seeing me this summer
 Bye too,
 Chris

Julie we've been around another year has gone by.
 Didn't see much of ya did we had fun I didn't know what to say but stay out of trouble! Don't drink and drive

Quite the 40. would you be willing to cut me back after we are night guards - the best, we know the road runner is (me, when the face (you need it) just)

Best of wishes love and kisses
 your friend and mine
 Bruce Kapitan could you say in cold war
 and now we have and
 and now we have and

One more year finally gone. I'm glad we got to know each other better this year. And if you're ever sitting around some night without me up this way a real date (unlike the time we'll hit summer) just call me up. See ya
 (HA, HA, HA, HA)

Julie
 Our great year. Remember Pine's fun in Art. Good you this summer. Hope to see together. We'll have another class
 (HA, HA, HA, HA)

something this year is what I thought. I would not have thought I would have a real date. I would like to have a real date.
 I hope to see you together
 this summer. Good luck with your year!

Julie
 Well, we're finally through our junior year, and now we're almost big senior! Big deal I am really glad I got to know you, you're really a riot!
 and the (best?) frame maker?
 Maybe next year we can get in some classes together,
 that would be a gas!
 Have fun this summer,
 I hope I see you around.
 Boop.

you slide down the banister of life as a remember
 in your...
 Julie: it's been over 9th grade. A lot of secret (not really) but over 9th grade. A lot of your guys we are a Krimmer class have

Krimmer,
 seems to me I use
 to know you in 8th grade.
 IT seems like I was
 ago. I suppose if I was going to Ramsey next year I'd see some where shining off my face
 in one of my classes.
 HAVE FUN! SEE YA
